Dear Mr. Lewisberg;

As can be imagined, the Assassination of President Kennedy has been a topic of conversation within our circle of friends more often than any other subject.

I have always believed that there was yet more to the story than we knew. — Being an avid mystery fan, I often felt my imagination was running away with me.

I have just completed your book 'Whitewash' and must admit that it is the finest piece of writing on the subject that I have found, and I have read every book that I could find on the subject.

Your book picks up all the points that have been bugging me — plus more.

I have always felt that the reason for the silence on this issue was the Nation's Security — and whether the answers will ever be revealed, only time will tell. But I feel that after reading of your fine book, the people of this country will be demanding more answers to these questions.

Thank you for your book that caused me to put it down until I had finished it, and for putting into words all the points that had kept cropping up to dispute the story as we now know it. As long as the questions are still being asked, we may someday get an answer.

Your book should be a 'must' to every American who has had the doubts that I have had, and I will recommend it and praise it as often as possible.

Needless to say, I already have a list of friends waiting to read it.

I found your book as exciting as any mystery I have read, except I know that I wouldn't know who the murderer was in the last chapter.

A grateful reader—

Dear Mrs. Bures,

Dell has forwarded your very kind letter. Such letters do mean very much to us and they do help as we continue work in this most disagreeable field.

We feel as you seem to, that until we know the truth to the degree that man now can we cannot stop. As you can see from the enclosed, we have published the second book ourselves and are working on the third, which is now about a month behind schedule. I do not anticipate any immediate reprinting of these.

I hope the many people who feel as you do will write their Congressmen and Senators and demand a full and public airing. Until then, we have an unsolved assassination and perhaps even worse, a lost national honor.

Thank you very much for taking the time to write. I wish I could take time for a more adequate response.

Sincerely,

Harold Weisberg
